

LIVE 7

Barrel Organ presents LIVE 7, a scratch night taking place at Camden People's Theatre, for under-represented artists making experimental and non-traditional work that specifically acknowledges the presence of the audience and plays with the 'liveness' of theatre.

LIVE

As a company, Barrel Organ try to make work that is self-consciously theatrical; plays with the unique 'liveness' that theatre offers as an art form; and continually seeks to explore and deconstruct the relationship between performer and spectator.

The LIVE nights began at Camden People's Theatre as a night that seeks to offer the opportunity for emerging, as well as more established, artists and companies to test up to 20 minutes of material in front of an audience.

Since then, a number of the artists and companies, whose work began as scratches at previous LIVE nights, have gone on to present their fully developed pieces at CPT, The Arcola and the Edinburgh Fringe. These artists include...

LIVE 7 will take place on Monday 23rd October at 7.30pm in the main studio space at Camden People's Theatre and is open to artists who make work in London and the South East.

Not another 'new-writing' night

The evening is supposed to be a space for artists currently under-represented in theatre, who are working in/with non-traditional forms to be able to test new material in front of an audience. The aim is to offer a platform and chance for constructive and beneficial criticism. We're looking for bold, experimental and uncompromising work that tackles a wide range of issues, agendas and ideas.

Feedback is Important

The point of LIVE is to give you, the artists, a chance for feedback. We're hoping to facilitate structured but relaxed, and hopefully fun, feedback in a variety of ways to aide those sharing work, and give the chance for face-to-face chats, discussion and written feedback to take place; all with the aim of benefiting you, the artists.

Payment

Previously we have run the night on a 'pay what you can' ticketing policy, but this time will be charging a flat rate of £5 in advance and on-the-door; this is cover Front of House costs and also ensure you the artists are able to earn some form of payment for your efforts. All profits made from the night will be divided equally amongst each piece so that each artists/company who has performed will be paid.

We would request that applicants be aware that any great costs towards mounting their pieces would have to be made at the expense of the artist. So don't blow the bank!

SUBMISSIONS

Submissions are now open and will close on Monday 23rd October, 5pm. Successful applications will be announced on Thursday 26th October, giving roughly 4 weeks development time.

Applicants should be aware that they need to be free for the whole day on Monday 27th November for tech (though we're sure we can be flexible!), with performances commencing at 7.30pm.

- We are particularly interested in receiving submissions from artists or companies currently under-represented in UK theatre; be they artists/companies of colour; LGBTQAI++? Artists/companies; and/or disabled artists/companies.
- We are specifically looking for new 'scratch' pieces and work that is in development.
- We are interested in submissions from artists and companies at all stages of their career, but are specifically interested in receiving submissions from emerging artists.
- Sadly, due to limitations in our budget, we are looking to receive submissions from artists specifically from/living/or making work in London and/or the South East – though if you do not fall into this category and still wish to apply we will do all we can to cover an additional travel costs you may incur.

Please send the application form with the subject title "LIVE 7 APPLICATION - CPT" to barrelorganthatre@gmail.com along with the Equal Opportunities monitoring form.

WHAT WE WANT

New work, new ways of making theatre, new experiences for audiences.

We are after 'scratches', things taking risks, trying something for the first time, and looking for a space and audience to test ideas out.

- Work that is self-consciously theatrical
 - Pieces that, in their performance acknowledge or expose the mechanics of the performance, or of the theatrical form itself
- Work that utilises the precariousness of live performance as an aspect in its form
 - Games, audience-led work, risks, challenges
- Work that accounts and/or directly acknowledges the audience
 - Be it direct address, discussion, argument, interaction, participation... No fourth walls here!
- Work to take place in the studio space
 - Please note the space it is a 90 seat space and functions as an end- studio. But don't let that stop you thinking outside the box! We can provide dimensions on request.

- Student/graduate work
 - We're keen to explore the most exciting new theatre work being made in (or within 1 year of leaving) university, college or drama schools. Let us know if your project might fit the bill.

WHAT WE DON'T WANT

- Finished Work, we want new things, not finished things!
- Work that has been scratched before, this is a night for brand new stuff.
- 'New writing'. As a company we are looking to invite artists who create collaboratively. Playwriting, in the conventional sense, isn't what we are looking to showcase. We will accept work that has scripted elements, but are looking for work that will play with form and uses text as one of many elements.
- Revivals of classic plays. 'Nuff said, really.
- Dance. The Other Room is primarily a venue of theatre and performance, not a dance venue per se. We will consider proposals for dance-theatre performance, where the emphasis is on 'theatre', but also note – the theatre space itself may not be suitable for a dance piece due to it's size.

TECH AND SPACE

Applicants should be aware that the tech provision will be limited to the studio rig, and applicants should try, where possible, to make allowances for this. This will include use of:

- General washes
- 2x mics (with potential for more)
- Line-in inputs (for laptop/ipod etc.)

There may be potential for more specific lighting/projection elements but this will depend upon availability on the day.

Any additional tech you require may have to be provided by yourselves.

Any questions regarding tech please email barrelorganthatre@gmail.com.

The space will be set-up for end-on performances, though we would encourage (where possible) for applicants to play with the whole space and what this set-up is capable of.

REMEMBER!

The deadline for LIVE applications is Monday 23rd October, 5pm. Please apply using the application form only. CVs, scripts or additional documentation will not be accepted.

Please send the application form with the subject title "LIVE 6 APPLICATION - CPT" to barrelorganthatre@gmail.com along with the Equal Opportunities monitoring form.
